

MEET SMALL WALT...

My name is

WALT.

I plow and I salt.

They say I'm

SMALL,

but I'll show them all.

A BLIZZARD IS COMING!

Drivers pick the bigger snowplows first,
leaving Small Walt behind.

No one thinks he has what it takes.

Until Gus, that is.

Small Walt and his driver, Gus, take off into the night to prove the bigger snowplows wrong,
but because of their size, they face an uphill battle.

Do you think they have what it takes?

They sure could use YOUR help and encouragement.

Are you up for the challenge?

Turn the page to join their adventure!

OFF YOU GO

From bridges to ramps to hilly neighborhoods, each plow has a route to follow. Guide Walt and Gus through the dark and snowy roads of their sleepy town.

The snow begins falling just as the sun sets. START your route at the plow lot.

FINISH back at the plow lot. Dawn has arrived and thanks to your hard work, the roads are paved!

Story by Elizabeth Verdick
Pictures by Marc Rosenthal
PAULA WISEMAN BOOKS
Simon & Schuster Children's Publishing
REPRODUCIBLE

SMALL WALT HAS A LOT TO SAY

Walt may be small, but he learns to speak up for himself. Color in the illustration of Walt below. Then, cut out the talk bubbles along the bottom of the page. Glue whichever one you like most to your picture of Walt.

WHOA!

VROOM!

DON'T GET STUCK...!

MY NAME IS WALT...!!

BEEP!! BEEP!!

Story by Elizabeth Verdick
Pictures by Marc Rosenthal

PAULA WISEMAN BOOKS

Simon & Schuster Children's Publishing

REPRODUCIBLE

A SNOWPLOW OF YOUR OWN

Walt is one-of-a-kind. He might not be as big as the other snowplows, but he makes up for it with his dedication, hard work, and passion! Now that you've made a trip through the night with Gus and Walt, what do you think your snowplow would look like? Draw a picture in the space below.

NAME OF YOUR SNOWPLOW:

Story by Elizabeth Verdick
Pictures by Marc Rosenthal

PAULA WISEMAN BOOKS
Simon & Schuster Children's Publishing

REPRODUCIBLE